Sources: Leaving Barra Composed by Michael MacKinnon, this is possibly best known as a song sung by Calum Kennedy. My setting comes from the playing of Jimmy Shand.

Fair Maid of Barra Written by John Campbell of Barra. I once read that the fair maid in question was Morag MacAulay (1911-1998), a Barra historian, storyteller and Gaelic singer.

Rowing from Islay to Uist

This is an old rowing tune, found untitled in Patrick McDonald's 1784 collection. Most people today know it from an influential 1978 recording by the group Ossian.

I was inspired by a tune called A Trip to Eigg, but my tune came out very differently, so I renamed it. Kinloch Castle is a mansion on Rum which built between 1897 and 1900. It is now owned by Scottish Natural Heritage.

Sources: Alas That I was Not Born Blind (Is Truagh Nach D'Rugadh Dall Mi) is a Gaelic song composed by Skye-born William Ross (1762-1791), about a woman whose face causes anguish to thousands of men. It is sometimes known as Fill o Ro.

The Garden of Skye was composed by Wick fiddler Addie Harper, leader of the Wick Scottish Dance Band. The "Garden of Skye" is the Sleat peninsula.

Sources: Raasay House: I've been racking my brain trying to remember where this came from, without luck. There are two other tunes of the same name, but they are completely different. Mrs MacLeod of Raasay is one of the most widespread tunes in the world, with settings from Ireland, the U.S. and Canada. This one here is a standard setting in Scotland.

RadioTimes

Originally called Dr MacKay's Farewell to Creagorry by accordionist Iain McLachlan, the tune was used for a television programme called The Dark Island, and became known under that title forever after. There have been at least three sets of words written to the tune.

Uist My Love (Uidhist Mo Gràidh): Composed by Gaelic singer Alasdair Matheson of North Uist. He was a popular singer who also owned the Crown Hotel in Stornoway. He died in the early 1970s.

South Georgia Whaling Song: Written by Donald "Dottie" MacMillan from Kilpheder in South Uist. Its Gaelic title is Cha Till Mis a' Seoladh.

Sources: Both of these tunes come from the Patrick McDonald Collection of 1884, wherein there are many tunes without names, some of which are described as "a Skye dance" or in this case, "a Harris dance". The first is transcribed from the playing of Scots fiddler Alasdair Fraser from a 1986 recording, while the second has been recorded many times by different musicians and groups. This setting is the one played by Blazin' Fiddles on their album The Key (2017).

Sources: Taynuilt to Bayble Island is a 2/4 pipe march composed by Ian Crichton for the writer Iain Crichton Smith, who was born in the village of Bayble on the east coast of Lewis. I have adapted it into a polka.

I got Lewis Lilt from the playing of accordionist Bobby MacLeod. There is a whole load of tunes related to it. Adapted and arranged by me.
