smallpipes

Cock o' the North (traditional)

A x2

Musical notation for 'Cock o' the North' in 6/8 time. The piece consists of five staves of music. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a 6/8 time signature. The melody is written in a single line. A bracket labeled 'Intro' spans the first two staves. The piece concludes with a double bar line.

Two standard Scottish jigs enjoyed by dance bands and session players alike. "Cock o' the North" is known in Ireland as "Chase Me Charlie", and to generations of schoolchildren as "Auntie Mary had a Canary". The second tune also has words, but the tune is older, I believe.

The Muckin' o' Geordie's Byre (traditional)

D x2

Musical notation for 'The Muckin' o' Geordie's Byre' in 6/8 time. The piece consists of four staves of music. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a 6/8 time signature. The melody is written in a single line. The piece features two first endings and two second endings, indicated by '1.' and '2.' above the notes. The piece concludes with a double bar line.
