The Spinning Wheel

Mellow the moonlight to shine is beginning,
 Close by the window young Eileen is spinning,
 Bent o'er the fire her blind grandmother sitting
 Is crooning and moaning and drowsily knitting.

Merrily, cheerily, noiselessly whirring,
 Swings the wheel, spins the wheel
 While the foot's stirring;
 Spritely and lightly and merrily ringing
 Trills the sweet voice of the Young maiden singing.

First published in 1884, this song was written by the Irish poet John Francis Waller (1809-1894). It's unknown where the melody came from, but one theory is his friend Robert Prescott Stewart.
