Theme for the Early Days of a Better Nation (Seattle) slow air

Theme for the Early Days

Born in Margate in 1951, Matt Seattle first moved to Northumberland, and then to the Scottish Borders, where he has made his home. He is a guitarist, fiddler and piper, as well as being a composer. His most famous piece is Lindisfarne, and he wrote Theme for the Early Days of a Better Nation before the Scottish Independence Referendum in 2014.
