Patterns in Music: Zig Zags 3

By far the most common Zig Zag pattern in music is in thirds, and it comes up a lot in traditional music as well as rock, jazz, and - well, you name it. Zig Zags in fourths are not nearly as common, but they do come up. I think the fifths pattern doesn't come up very often, but it's a handy exercise to practise parallel notes - notes that occur on the same frets on adjacent strings.
